TUESDAY'S PROCEEDINGS.

Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock the opening exercises of the Grand Encampment of Pennsylvania I. O. O. F., was held in the Court House and was open to the public. The Court house was well filled and the exercises though short were quite interesting. J. Calvin Meyer, Esq., of Bellefonte presided and introduced the Burgess of Bellefonte W. Harrison Walker, who made an eloquent speech welcoming the fraternity to our beautiful little city, the home of Governors. It was responded to by Cleon Gicquelais, of Pittsburg, Grand Patriarch. He thanked the Burgess and the people of Bellefonte for their warm welcome and expressed his pleasure and that of the order at being able to come to this pleasant city "the home of Governors." He paid a splendid tribute to its illustrious citizens. In closing he referred to the great work of the order in this and foreign lands. He was heartily applauded at the closing of his excellent address.

This closed the public exercises, and headed by the Coleville band they marched to the Odd Fellows hall where the sessions were secret.

The officers of the Grand Encampment in their handsome uniforms marched with military precision and made a fine appearance, drawing forth favorable comments on all sides.

Tuesday afternoon the Odd Fellows and their friends enjoyed an excursion to State College. An opportunity was given the visitors to examine all departments of this institution and see the 1000 students at their work.

Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock there was a school of instruction in I. O. O. F., hall. Open to all Royal Purple Degree members.

The seventy-sixth annual communication of the Grand Encampment, Independent Order of Odd Fellows came to a close Wednesday with two important meetings, one at 9 o'clock and the other at 2 p. m. It has been a most successful week and the visitors express themselves as highly delighted with their visit to Bellefonte.

Their excursion to State College Tuesday afternoon was fraught with much pleasure. About 350 took advantage of this opportunity to visit this famous institution of learning. The special train on the Bellefonte Central left at 2 p. m. returning to Bellefonte about 6 o'clock. At the railroad station the visitors were met by a committee of Professors, who after dividing their guests into different parties escorted them to all the main buildings and other points of the grounds.

BURGESS WALKER'S ADDRESS.

Burgess W. Harrison Walker's address of welcome delivered in the Court House Monday morning was as follows:

Our people are noted for their enterprise, their progressiveness, their patriotism, and above all things their hospitality. For substantial, successful business men Bellefonte stands unsurpassed by any town in the interior of this great State.

Financial institutions of no town have been so well managed, and in no place in the state are they more substantial. Financial storms and panics have visited the people of this country, but, however distressing they may have been, our banks have always withstood the storm.

The founders of Bellefonte were not unmindful of the important interests of public education We have the best public school system in the State and school board has always secured the services of able, capable and competent instructors The Academy was established in 1800 and incorporated in 1805. This institution annually prepares many young men and women for Princeton, Yale, Harvard and other colleges.

In public life our citizens have left their impress upon the State and nation alike. The bench of the highest judiciary of the State has been adorned by men from this town. In less than thirty-five years this little city, nestled among the hills and within sight of the magnificent crest of the Alleghenies, has furnished to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania three Chief Executives, Governors Curtin, Beaver and Hastings. Governors Bilger and Packer were printers in Bellefonte

Brother Odd Fellows, you have met with us for your annual convention; matters will no doubt be considered of vast importance to the members of our fraternity and may our progress still be onward and upward in the cause of "Friendship, Love and Truth." and may our great emblem be an ever guardian angel over every brother connected with it.

Let us all live for the institutions which guard the interests of one common brotherhood, the Government which protects the flag which is over us, the love which ever in foreign lands makes us think with pride: "Thank God, we are American citizens." May the great principles of "Friendship, Love and Truth" ever advance.

And now, in behalf of the people of Bellefonte, I desire to thank the members of the Grand Encampment for the honor they have conferred upon us. Every pledge and every inducement that was made to influence this honorable body of men to hold its convention here, we stand ready to fulfill to the letter.

I sincerely trust that your visit to our city will result in incalculable good to this order, and that you will also find opportunity for enjoyment and pleasure, so that when you return you will carry with you only happy memories and pleasant recollections of your visit to the "Home of Governors."

DEATH OF HENRY IRVING!

Died Literally in the Harness.

CAUSED BY SYNCOPE

To the Last Moment His Heart Was in the Work to Which He Devoted His Entire Career.

APPEARED IN PUBLIC THURSDAY

London, October 13.—The English speaking world has suffered an irreparable loss by the sudden death Friday night of Sir Henry Irving, who was universally regarded as the most representative English actor of contemporary times.

Sir Henry died literally in harness. He was giving a series of farewell performances in the English provinces and this week was playing an engagement at Bradford, appearing in several favorite roles. Thursday he presented "King Rene's Daughter" and "The Bells;" and seemed to be in excellent health, taking the exhaustive part of Mattbias in the latter play with all the vigor of youth. Before an enthusiastic audience he portrayed one of his most characteristically intellectual parts, the title role in his own stage adaptation of Lord Tennyson's "Becket," with marked success. After the performance Sir Henry returned to his hotel, reaching his rooms at 11:30 o'clock, when it was observed that he was in great pain. Physicians were immediately summoned but before they could arrive he was seized with an attack of syncope and expired within a few minutes, without uttering a word, in the presence of Bram Stoker, who had been his immediate manager for many years, and a few old friends. The event caused the greatest pain and consternation among the members of the company. The Associated Press received the following telegram last night from Bram Stoker:

"Very terrible news. Sir Henry Irving had an attack of syncope after returning from the theatre to the hotel tonight and died suddenly."

To the last moment of his life Sir Henry Irving's heart was in the work of which he had devoted his career—the raising of the standard of his art. On Wednesday he was entertained at luncheon in the Bradford town hall, at which the mayor presented him an address from his admirers. In reply to the address Sir Henry spoke of himself as one of the sands of whose life were fast running out, but those present had not the slightest idea that the end would come so soon. He proceeded in his reply to eloquently advocate the establishment of theatres by municipalities, "because", he said, "I believe that by this means the standard of the true drama as distinguished from miscellaneous entertainments would be successfully upheld.

"Money is spent like water for all kinds of philanthropic and educational objects," he continued, "but who amongst you ever dreams of endowing the theatre. I am sure the time will come when you will regard the theatre as neccessary to a liberal education and be prepared to consider any reasonable suggestions for the extension of its legitimate influence. It may be that in years to come our countrymen will scarcely understand how in times so pleasant an instrument of good or ill as the stage was left entirely outside the sphere of public administration."

SUICIDE AT STATE COLLEGE.

A Welsh Girl Named Margaret Williams Takes Carbolic Acid.

Friday evening about 9 o'clock Margaret Williams, a welsh girl employed as a domestic at McAllister Hall, State College, took a dose of carbolic acid and as a result of her rash act died in great agony at 11 o'clock the same evening.

Doctors Glenn and Robinson were called to attend her and did everything in their power to save her life but it was impossible to do so.

The suicide was a native of Nanticoke, Pa., and had been employed at McAllister Hall about two weeks. Had she lived until the 29th of this month she would have been 17 years of age. Troubles at home are given as the cause for her taking her life.

The remains were shipped to her home in Nanticoke at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

—In just three weeks the voters will have an opportunity to express themselves.

A Slight Fire at the Academy.

On Friday evening about 5:30 the fire alarm sounded for the South ward. On investigation it was found that the fire was in the cellar of the main wing of the Academy building. In a few minutes both the Logan and Undine fire companies were on the scene with their men and apparatus. In a few minutes the fire was extinguished and no serious damage done.

It seems that the janitor of the building was doing the sweeping and had a few papers from the waste baskets dumped near the furnace. These caught fire and filled the building with smoke.

The trustees of the Academy are wisely planning to build a boiler house on the hill back of the Academy and will begin work at once this will prevent the danger of similar fires in the future. This was decided upon last winter and the plans are in the hands of the builders now.

The Dolls Bazaar and Fair.

We ask you all who are interested in the building, which is an ornament to the town, but a heavy burden on the few who are carrying its mortgage and floating debt, will you not turn in and give us a lift. Fancy articles as well as useful are needed to make a Fair a success, and can be sent to the home Mrs VanTries or Mrs J. P. Harris.

GRUSOME FIND THURSDAY!

Ghastly Murder Committed in a New York Boarding House.

BODY WAS HEADLESS

Severed Head was Thrown Upon a Dirt Pile in a Vacant Lot Some Distance Off.

THE POLICE HAVE MADE ONE ARREST.

New York, Oct 13.—A ghastly murder was committed in a Third avenue boarding house at an early hour yesterday morning, when Thomas F. Corcoran was killed and his body horribly dismembered An attempt was made to conceal the identity of the dead man by throwing away his head in a vacant lot on Eighteenth street, some distance from the scene of the crime. One arrest has been made. Frederick Bauer, being taken into custody.

The police make the allegation that it was a crime of degeneracy.

Corcoran came here from Ireland several years ago and made his home in this city with a married sister He was a ticket-chopper on the elevated railroad.

Shortly after 2 o'clock yesterday morning Geo. Lanole, who has a room on the second floor of No. 149 Third avenue, heard a succession of pistol shots. He thought that they came from the room of Frederick Bauer, a German, a former employe of the Union Square hotel, who has a room on the same floor as Lanole. After the shots Lanole said he heard steps going through the hall to the sink. Several trips were made.

Lanole, for some reason, made no effort to investigate the trouble and did not report the shooting to the police until 8 o'clock The police went to Bauer's room, which presented the picture of a slaughter house.

On the floor was a dress suit case into which was stuffed the left arm and the legs of a man. The floor was covered with blood and in a clothes hamper in the closet was the trunk of a man's body. The head could not be found in the room. In the hamper was a bloody razor with which the deed was probably committed.

Shortly after the discovery four laborers working on an excavation reported to the police that the head of a man had been found thrown upon pile of dirt. The head was taken to the Third avenue house and found to fit upon the body. It is believed that the murderer carried the head and right arm out of the house and that the missing arm will be found.

Frederick Bauer was arrested, but denied knowledge of the crime. He told the police that he knew nothing about it. Bauer gave his occupation as that of an elevator runner.

Bauer said that he had brought the two men to his room Thursday night, one a soldier, Bauer fell asleep while these men talked, he said, and when he awoke the soldier was gone, leaving the other's body as the police found it. The police found that Bauer's socks, the right arm of his undershirt and the right arm of an outer shirt were covered with blood A revolver with one chamber empty was found in Bauer's room.

The identification of Corcoran's body was made by his brother in-law, John McMurrough, who stated that the deceased had left home Thursday night with a man named John Grout, who is employed by Fiss, Deoer & Carroll, horse dealers. At the offices of Fiss, Deoer & Carroll it was said that Grout had worked for them at times during the last six months. He was a horse salesman. So far the police have been unable to find any trace of him.

The Renewal a Strain.

Vacation is over. Again the school bell rings at morning and at noon, again with tens of thousands the hardest kind of work has begun, the renewal of which is a mental and physical strain to all except the most rugged. The little girl that a few days ago had roses in her cheeks, and the little boy whose lips were then so red you would have insisted that they had been "kissed by strawberries," have already lost something of the appearance of health. Now is a time when many children should be given a tonic which should avert such serious trouble, and we know of no other so highly to be recommended as Hood's Sarsaparilla, which strengthens the nerves, perfects digestion and assimilation, and aids mental development by building up the whole system.

—A boon to travelers. Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry. Cures dysentery, diarrhoea, seasickness, nausea. Pleasant to take. Perfectly harmless.

LONG ENGAGEMENTS.

A Woman's Plan by Which to Bring About Happy Marriages.

Marriage is an institution of the state; therefore she should put it out of the bonds of possibility that people can marry each other in two days or a week. How many marriages would be broken off if the state required a three years' engagement before people are married? After all, if a woman wants to become a nun in two months, no convent in the world will accept her. She must be a novice for two or three years. During that time she has to make an examination of her conscience every day and to find out if she has a vocation for a nun. But women and men marry without the slightest preparation, without the slightest thought of the future, while Dame Nature laughs at her most odd pairings. She wants her world peopled. That is her part. The men and women who are ill suited to each other are not her affair.

Girls and boys at school should be taught to look upon marriage as the most beautiful, the happiest, the most desirable and the most possible thing in the world. Boys should be taught to keep their minds and their bodies pure for the state which they will probably enter and to have a sense of protection and loyalty to girls, and girls should be taught industry, self sacrifice and responsibility for the married state.—Mrs. T. P. O'Connor in Black and White.

THE FOUR AGES.

So Life Goes, Always Has Gone and Always Will Go.

Here are man's four views of time:

"You still have forty years to live," said the guardian spirit to the youth.

"It is a long, long time," the youth replied, "and I will do a great deal before it is past."

"You have thirty years yet to live," the guardian spirit said to the still young man.

"Well, that is quite awhile," was the reply. "Probably I cannot do all I had intended, but I will make quite a showing."

"You have twenty years to live," the spirit said to the middle aged man.

"Only twenty! Well, I suppose I will have to do the best I can in that length of time."

For the last time the guardian spirit appeared. "You yet have ten years left," he said to the rapidly aging man.

The man sighed. "But ten years," he whispered in reply. "And what can one do in those few days?"

And when the end had come the man looked backward and moaned, "I am leaving it nearly all undone!"

And so life goes, although youth will not believe it, and only old age fully realizes that it is so.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

FIDDLERS AND DRUMMERS.

The Two Classes of Insects That Produce Audible Sounds.

Insects that produce sounds audible to human ears have been roughly divided into two classes—fiddlers and drummers. The grasshopper is a fiddler and makes music by scraping its fore wings against the rows of spinelike teeth that ornament its thighs. The katydid also plays an entomological fiddle. It produces its notes by rubbing the inner side of the hind legs over the front wings.

The locust, on the other hand, is a drummer, and a loud one too. His drum is formed by a membrane situated at the base of the fore wing, and he can make a forest ring with it. The cicada, or seventeen year locust, carries a drum at the base of the abdomen and makes with it a noise that seems to be quite as terrifying in the insect world as that produced by the gorilla pounding its resounding chest is among wild beasts. It is said that the cicada sometimes frightens away its enemies with the rattle of its drum.

There are other drumming insects which make good music, but the violinists, after all, carry off the palm, for the great insect soloist, the cricket, is a fiddler.

The Month of August.

Few persons know why August has thirty-one days. July, which takes its name from Julius Caesar, has thirty one days, and Augustus, who completed the calendar, declined to submit to the indignity of seeing his own month branded with the inferiority of one day less. The astronomers had accordingly to reshuffle the lunar cards, and, after some perplexity, hit upon the expedient of shearing twenty-four hours from February's glory in order that August might face the world on a footing of perfect equality with July.

His Insanity.

"Your honor," said the attorney, "this man's insanity takes the form of a belief that every one wants to rob him. He won't allow even me, his counsel, to approach him."

"Maybe he's not so crazy after all," murmured the court in a judicial whisper.—London Express.

The Bargain.

Littleton—What under the canopy are you going to do with all that white satin? Mrs. Littleton—Why, it's for baby! It was such a bargain. I knew I'd never find any so cheap again, and it will be lovely for her wedding gown. —Brooklyn Life.

He Knew.

"Come, Willie," said mother at the table, "sit up like a man."

"Why, mother," replied Willie, "men sit down for their feet; it's only dogs that sit up."—Exchange.

As a Country Parson and as a Peace-making Magistrate.

For twenty years Sydney Smith remained in Yorkshire, and, though his ideas of clerical duty were not those of today, yet it will not be denied that he was a vigorous country parson, entering into the pursuits and the daily life of his humble neighbors and doing his utmost to improve their lot. His descriptions of his life and surroundings at Foston are among the most delightful of his humorous writings. Every one has heard of Annie Kay, the little country girl, "made like a milestone," who, christened Bunch, "became the best butler in the county;" of the rawboned riding horse Calamity, which "flung me over his head into a neighboring parish as if I had been a shuttlecock, and I feel grateful that it was not into a neighboring planet;" of the ancient green chariot named the Immortal, "at which the village boys cheered and the village dogs barked;" of his four draft oxen—Tug and Lug, Haul and Crawl—of which "Tug and Lug took to fainting and required buckets of sal volatile and Haul and Crawl to lie down in the mud." As a magistrate Sydney Smith became famous for making up local quarrels and for dealing gently with poachers. The game laws, like a good Whig, he could not abide, and it stirred his honest wrath to reflect that "for every ten pheasants which fluttered in the wood one English peasant was rotting in jail." Like Charles Kingsley at Eversley in after years, he refrained from shooting. "If you shoot," he said, "the squire and the poacher will both consider you as their natural enemies, and I thought it more clerical to be at peace with both."—Rev. Canon Vaughan in Longman's Magazine.

ANY FOOL

Knows enough to carry an umbrella when it rains, but the wise one is he who carries one when it is only cloudy.

Any man will send for a doctor when he gets bed-fast, but the wiser one is he who adopts proper precautionary, preventive and curative measures when first appear the ills which, if unheeded and uncured, grow into serious illness.

Impaired digestion and nutrition are generally the forerunners of a nervous or functional break-down. Nature has provided remedies most abundantly for all such conditions in our native medicinal plants. With the use of chemically pure glycerine, of proper strength and at a proper sustained temperature, Dr. Pierce extracts from Golden Seal root, Queen's root, Stone root, Black Cherrybark, Bloodroot and Mandrake root, medicinal principles which, when combined in just the right proportions, constitute his widely famed "Golden Medical Discovery." It restores the tone of the stomach, the activity of the liver and the steadiness of the nerves, pouring vitality into the blood till the once sick and debilitated one is so renewed in health, strength and power that he can resume his work, whatever it is, with vigor and elasticity.

All medical authorities, of whatever school, agree that Hydrastis, or Golden Seal—one of the essential roots in the make-up of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery—is of very great value as a pure tonic, and as an alterative—valuable in chronic affections of the stomach, intestines and bladder.

Not only the Original but the best Little Liver Pills, first put up over 40 years ago, by old Dr. R. V. Pierce, have been much imitated but never equaled, as thousands attest. They're purely vegetable, being made up of concentrated and refined medicinal principles, extracted from the roots of American plants. Do not gripe. One or two for stomach corrective, three or four for cathartic.

CONTRACT WAS ANNULLED!

Contract Awarded to J. E. Markel for Feeding and Caring for Canal Employes.

REASON FOR THE ACTION

Commissaries are Being Handled Successfully and New Arrangements Not Necessary.

SOME PROTESTS HAD BEEN ENTERED

Panama, Oct. 12.—The last action of the Panama canal commission before sailing from Colon for New York was the annulment of the contract awarded J. T. Markel, of Omaha, Neb., for feeding and caring for the employes of the canal. The reason for this action is that Chief Engineer Stevens, through the department of materials and supplies under Messrs. Jackson & Smith, is handling the commissaries successfully, rendering unnecessary the arrangement with Mr. Markel. Protests made by the employes against the arrangement, it is believed, also influenced the decision.

The contract with Mr. Markel was to run five year and it was estimated that it would involve $50,000,000. Huggins & Dumas, one of the other firms bidding for the contract, protested against the award to Mr. Markel, alleging favoriteism and charging that the latter was enabled through a leak in the office of Chairman Shontz, to get information about the other bidders which aided him in bidding successfully. The protest was forwarded to President Roosevelt, who referred it to Chairman Shontz for report and later decided that the contract would stand.

GENTLEMEN OF ENGLAND.

How Their Claims Were Established In the Middle Ages.

A curious meeting was held in Lyons on Jan. 4, 1699. The royal commissioners solemnly sat in council to decide the question if lawyers and doctors could be regarded as gentlemen. It proved too hard a problem for the wise heads, and the doctors and lawyers themselves were summoned to prove their right to gentility. The matter was settled to the satisfaction of the professional parties.

In the middle ages of England heralds went through the counties to examine into the claims of landholders to be called gentlemen. There is in existence an interesting list of the disqualified, and one reads today the shame of a certain Thomas Robbins who failed to establish the title and was writ among the ignoble. Charles Anscote, a representative of one of the oldest families, is registered as "entitled to be styled a gentleman, although worth not more than £500."

Brooke, an old writer, has given the world his opinion of what constitutes a gentleman, and his definition has never been excelled:

"The character, or, rather, quality, of a gentleman does not in any degree depend on fashion or mode or state or opinion; neither does it change with customs, climates or ages. But, as the spirit of God alone can inspire it, so it is that quality of heart which is the same yesterday, today and forever."

Summersgill was married three months ago.

Municipal Ownership Plan Defeated.

Chicago, Oct. 10. — Mayor Dunne placed his "contract plan" for municipal ownership before the city council and it was defeated by a vote of 45 to 18. The plan provided for the organization of a corporation and the issuance of certificates under what is known as the Mueller law. Out of the sale of these certificates the first 90 miles of street railway was to be constructed, paralleling existing lines. It is expected that the mayor will now abandon this plan and bring in its place his alternative or "city plan."

NATURE'S NOBLEMEN.

Those Who Are Ambitious to Be Useful Rather Than Rich.

A young man of ability and great promise recently refused to enter a vocation which would yield him a large income, lest the temptation to become rich might eat up his desire to help his fellow men. He feared that the frantic struggle for wealth and self being waged by the majority of men with whom his position would force him into the same vortex of selfishness. He felt that his ideals would become tarnished, that his aspirations would be starved in such an atmosphere, and so he chose a vocation which would enable him to render the greatest service to humanity.

It is a refreshing thing in a material age to see people who are ambitious to be useful rather than rich, who are more eager to help others than to make money. These are nature's noblemen; these are the characters which enrich life and which have pushed civilization up from the savage to the Florence Nightingales and the Lincolns.

One of the most promising things about our civilization today is that, side by side with the greed for gold, is the ever growing passion of humanity for good. The number of people who prefer to be useful to their fellow men rather than to make money is constantly increasing. This passion for good is the salt of humanity; it is what makes us believe in the future of the race.—Success.

THE TEXAN RANGERS.

First Fight With Indians In Which Revolvers Were Used.

John Coffee Hays was reared on a farm in Wilson county, Tenn., being born there in 1817. At the age of eighteen he migrated to Texas, where, during the struggle of that Mexican province for independence, he served with distinction in the military campaign conducted by General Sam Houston, being noted for his bravery and strategy. After the termination of that conflict Hays was placed in command of the small regular force that was shortly afterward organized and became known to fame as the Texan rangers. Many were the desperate fights in which he was engaged with the fierce Comanches and border Indians, and innumerable were the perils which he encountered. He was the first to supply an armed force with Colt's revolvers for use in battle.

The Indian mode of warfare in those early days was to draw their enemy's fire and then sweep down upon them like a whirlwind, plying their bows and using their long spears with deadly effect. So cautious were they in this respect that they soon distinguished the double barreled gun when it was brought into use and only approached when they were sure that such weapons had been emptied. On the first occasion when Hays and his rangers, armed with the revolvers, met a band on the warpath they allowed their fire to be liberally drawn, and then the Indians charged with exultant cries, but when the revolver was brought into play at close quarters the panic that ensued was absolute and the destruction of the Indians complete. Hays was colonel of the First Texan regiment, the nucleus of which was formed of veteran rangers.

CEMETERY VAULTS.

The Building of Them Is a Profession In Itself.

The vault was the size of the usual cemetery vault—one small room, roofed, floored and walled with granite, an ordinary vault—and yet the undertaker said it had cost $20,000.

"But there is no carving on it," objected the man who thought of buying a lot. "It is as plain as a pipestem, and all the stone it contains could be bought for $10,000 or less."

"True, true," said the undertaker. And he pointed to another vault that might have been the first one's twin. "That only cost $15,000," he said, "a saving of $10,000, but the broker who bought it got abominably stuck.

"The cheap vault, you see, was built, as a house is, by an architect and an ordinary builder. It looks good. It will last for centuries. But, by Jove, it leaks like a sieve! After every storm it is flooded, and two of the cemetery attendants have to charge up a day's time against the owner for cleaning it out.

"Vault building is a profession in itself. To make for a vault a waterproof roof of enormous granite slabs is an art that only the vault builder understands. When the ordinary builder, no matter how proficient he may be, undertakes this task he fails lamentably. The vault leaks. After every storm its floor is flooded.

"Therefore, if ever you invest in a vault let a specialist erect it for you. He will charge you a good many thousands extra, but he will give you a good, satisfactory job."—New York Herald.

Docile Ducks of the Chinese.

In China the duck is much esteemed as an article of diet, and what may be called duck farms are common on most of the rivers. The birds are taught to hunt for their food, and the rearing of them costs little. They are kept in boats with a platform or deck extending outward on each side. These boats are taken to the shallow, marshy parts by the banks of the streams, and the ducks are then driven ashore to enjoy themselves in the mud flats. So well are the birds trained that at a given signal they cease eating and follow their leader back into the boat, where they lie during the night. Ducks preserved by being salted are a favorite food with the well to do.

Indian Remedies.

The Indian pharmacopoeia comprised thoroughwort, spurge and Indian hemp, used as emetics; the bark of the horse chestnut and butternut, used as cathartics. They were also acquainted with many poisons, most of which were used on their weapons. For asthma they employed tobacco and sassafras, for coughs slippery elm, for dropsy the wild gooseberry, for wounds powdered puff balls. They treated boils with onion poultices.

Houses In Ceylon.

The natives of the interior of Ceylon finish walls and roof with a paste of slaked lime, gluten and alum, which glazes and is so durable that specimens three centuries old are now to be seen. In Sumatra the native women braid a coarse cloth of palm leaves for the edge and top of the roof. Many of the old Buddhist temples in India and Ceylon had roofs made out of cut stone blocks, hewed timber and split bamboo poles. Uneven planks—cut from the old and dead palm trees, seldom from living young trees—are much used in the Celebes and Philippines. Shark skins form the roofs for fishermen in the Andaman islands.

His Mission.

Old Mortality was freshening up the illegible inscriptions on the ancient tombstones.

"I merely wish to show," he explained to the curious bystanders, "that there is nothing essentially new in modern fiction."—Chicago Tribune.

ARTISTIC TEMPERAMENT.

Defined as a Disease That Afflicts Amateurs.

Gilbert K. Chesterton's "Heretics" contains some of his keenest and most amusing writing. Of great men he observes: "The first rate great man is equal with other men, like Shakespeare. The second rate great man is on his knees to other men, like Whitman. The third rate great man is superior to other men, like Whistler." In the following there may be discovered as much truth as humor:

"The artistic temperament is a disease that afflicts amateurs. It is a disease which arises from men not having sufficient power of expression to utter and get rid of the element of art in their being. It is healthful to every sane man to utter the art within him; it is essential to every sane man to get rid of the art within him at all costs. Artists of a large and wholesome vitality get rid of their art easily, but in artists of less force the thing becomes a pressure and produces a definite pain, which is called the artistic temperament. Thus very great artists are able to be ordinary men—men like Shakespeare or Browning. There are many real tragedies of the artistic temperament, tragedies of vanity or violence or fear, but the great tragedy of the artistic temperament is that it cannot produce any art.

THE BRIDES OF VENICE.

An Ancient Custom That Once Had a Rude Interruption.

In the year 902, according to old custom, all the brides for the year at Venice assembled on St. Mary's eve at the cathedral, taking with them their dowries in small chests. There they awaited their bridegrooms, who followed them, and after mass they were married and received the bishop's blessing.

In this year the sea rovers of Triest burst in upon the expectant maidens, who were all dressed in white, with hair loosely flowing and interwoven with threads of gold, carried them off to their barks and hoisted sail.

The doge of Venice summoned his men to arms, pursued the rovers, overtook them in a creek still known as the Port of the Damsels and brought the brides back in triumph.

In memory of this event a solemn procession of twelve young women took place yearly, and the Marian games were observed with great splendor until the year 1379, when they were discontinued in a time of disastrous war.—London Standard.

AN IRISH TYPE.

The Placid, Well Born Girl of the Little Green Isle.

"The Irishwomen never worry," said a woman who has mixed much in the upper circles of the little green isle; "therefore they preserve their youth better than the women of any other nation. A peculiar type of personality has been left in Ireland. England and America have drained off the progressive and hustling—England from the upper classes, America from the lower. Those who are left are of a placid, contented type, from whom the restlessness of present day civilization seems far removed. The dullness of the life led by the average well born Irish girl would be pathetic if it were not that she seems to thrive so well on it. Year after year she follows the same monotonous round, meeting the same people at tennis in summer or hockey matches in winter. If her home is in a hunting district, no matter at how low an ebb the family finances may be, they will manage to give her a good mount, but for the girls who do not hunt the long, wet winter, with few neighbors and few books, passes almost as drearily as in a mediaeval castle."—New York Tribune.

St. Fiacre.

There is a pretty bit of history in the name of that vehicle, the fiacre. St. Fiacre was an Irishman of noble birth, who went over to France in the seventh century and lived as a hermit in a forest near Meaux. His popularity became very great in the France of later centuries. When Sauvage started public hackney coaches in Paris in 1640 he found the most convenient center for them to be an inn in the Rue St. Martin, named Hotel St. Fiacre and adorned with an image of the saint; hence "fiacre."

MAKING PIPE ORGANS.

Interesting Work That Is Done In the Voicing Room.

Both the metal and wooden pipes of a pipe organ are made on the selfsame principle of the willow whistles that every man made when he was a boy, and so, after all, a pipe organ, the mightiest musical instrument yet invented, is but the evolution of that primitive pipe of Pan, the willow whistle.

The most interesting place in an organ factory is the voicing room. Up to the time the pipes enter this room they are as dumb as broomsticks. Here the breath of life is breathed into them, and they are made to speak, each in the voice intended by its maker. Here the big fat pipes are taught to thunder out their diapason and those scarce the diameter of a slate pencil and one-half an inch long to utter their shrill whistle and others the thousands of varying tones between. And not only must the pipes of one stop speak correctly as individuals and members of their own particular family, but they must be in accord with all the hundreds of others in whose midst they are to live. To see that they do this is the work of a man whose ear is keen to the slightest variation and who must know why a pipe does not speak as it should and how to make it. One by one the pipes are set upon the wind chest standing here, with the bellows and all the internal mechanism of an organ properly adjusted and with a keyboard in front of him the voicer tests each one. By changing the size and shape of the aperture through which the wind passes he governs the tone until it is exactly what it should be, a task which only a man with the nicest sense of sound can accomplish.

DESKS OF FAMOUS MEN.

There Are Many of Them Scattered About the Country.

The desk of Salmon P. Chase, a plain piece of furniture made from mahogany, is in one of the rooms of the treasury department at Washington. There are many of these old desks scattered about the country, their chief claim to interest being that once some well known man leaned over them.

Alexander Hamilton's traveling desk, made of mahogany and measuring 12 by 16 inches and 10 inches high, is an interesting object. Upon this desk was written much of his literary work, and the worn green baize with which it is lined attests to the use to which it was put. There is a drawer in one side and several compartments for pens and ink, while upon the top is inlaid a silver plate with the name "General Alexander Hamilton" engraved upon it. Within the top is a strip of parchment which says, "Given by Mrs. General Schuyler to her daughter, Mrs. General A. Hamilton." No doubt the convenient size was what recommended it to the general.

Nathaniel Hawthorne's desk is preserved at the custom house, Salem, Mass. A desk at which he wrote some of his inimitable romances was just a board standing out from the wall at an angle. This is still in the tower room at Wayside, his home at Concord, Mass. Victor Hugo had in his Guernsey house a study built almost entirely of glass and perched upon the roof. Like Hawthorne, he, too, stood at his writing, and his desk was a mere shelf fastened by hinges to the wall.—Delineator.

Origin of a Phrase.

Many years ago the wild deer that roamed through the forests of England used to dig holes in the earth with their forefeet. They pawed it out sometimes to the depth of several inches, sometimes a foot or more. These holes were called "scrapes," and travelers at dusk or night or those who were careless about their footing often tumbled into them. They were laughed at for their heedlessness when they came home covered with mud, and, as this frequently occurred after they had been imbibing a bit, they were said to have "got into a scrape." Some Cambridge students took up this expression, and thus it came to be applied to people who had got into difficulties of various sorts.

Cooked Under Water.

In 1706 one James Austin laid a wager of $500 that he would cook a plum pudding ten feet beneath the surface of the Thames near Rotherhithe. The bet was readily accepted, and many people flocked to the appointed locale to watch this strange exhibition of the culinary art. Inclosed in a tin pan in the center of a sack of lime the pudding was lowered beneath the water, where for two hours and a half it remained. It was then taken up and partaken of by a committee, who declared that Austin had won his wager, the pudding being, if anything, overdone.

A Broad Hint.

"Mamma," said a six-year-old girl, entering the sitting room one morning recently, "don't you want some candy?"

The mother was writing a letter. "Why, yes, dear," she replied. "Give me a piece."

"I ain't dot any," came from the child, "an' I ain't dot any nickel to dit none."

She got the nickel.—Kansas City Times.

Morally Improving Habit.

The habit of dressing well grows on a man like the opium habit, but its consequences, instead of being disastrous, are delightful and socially as well as morally improving.—Sartorial Art Review.

EDITORIAL.

To get out the Republicen vote means to win the election.

The issue is good public service. Then vote for Miller and Bailey.

Coroner S. M. Huff has made an excellent official. He should be re-elected.

In the hands of Lincoln E. Swartz the county cash box will be perfectly safe.

If all candidates were as sure of election as J. Lee Plummer there would be less occasion to worry.

It goes without saying that if the Prohibitionists vote Mr. Berry there will be no Prohibition party left.

One of the coming victors in Centre county this fall is Henry Kline, our peerless candidate for Sheriff.

If you vote for J. Lee Plummer it will be in favor of a continuance of Pennsylvania's Republican supremacy.

The kind of auditors that will give satisfaction are men like Pontius and Musser. Their election means a good audit.

John G. Bailey and Abram V. Miller are above and over anyother candidates for County Commissioners. See that they get your vote.

The Democratic party leaders in Centre county have no use for the farmer or the old soldier as is evidenced by the fact that there is not a farmer or soldier on their ticket this year.

The editor of the Centre Hall Reporter should book himself a little better on local politics, before dictating to his readers how to vote this fall. He mentions Earle C. Tuten as a candidate for Recorder when in fact Mr. Tuten is the Republican nominee for Register. Wake up old man,

HURRAH FOR THE G. O. P.

News of bumper crops in Kansas is begginning to arrive. Up and down the state, from the Indian territory to Nebraska and from the Missouri river to the Colarado line, the farmers are harvesting the crops that have grown up around them this season in wanton luxuriance, says the Chicago Inter-Ocean.

For miles, and miles, and miles, from horizon to horizon across, are smiling golden fields of wheat, oats, rye and barley, bordered with the undulating acres of tasseling corn.

That Kansas is again raising bumper crops, that the farmers o Kansas are once more face to face with the problem of investing their surplus profits, that the wives of Kansas farmers are again looking forward to protracted shopping visits to Chicago, that the daughters of Kansas farmers are once more laying plans for sojourns at the seashore or in the mountains, that the sons of Kansas farmers are again undecided whether it shall be Yale, or Harvard, or Princeton, are conditions to excite no surprise.

They are but natural consequences of the conversion of Kansas to those ideals which make inevitably for honest dollars, higher prices, larger families, territorial expansion and national prosperity.

Wherever in this wondrous Westland sound, practical, uncompromising partisan Republicanism has taken root, the beautiful story of Kansas is being rrpeated today.

Hurrah for the G.O.P

OUR COUNTY TICKTE.

From present indications there is not the slightest doubt but that every member of the Republican ticket will be triumphantly elected at the November election. The only thing possible to cause their defeat will be the apathy of the members of our own party. We have the votes to do it, and if we all turn out as is our duty, Centre County will be in the Republican columns of the State.

There is no reason why any single candidate should fall behind in his majority, for they are all honorable and competent men. An evidence of the fact that the Democratic leaders do not expect to elect their candidates, is shown by the effort being made to secure votes by any means, (fair or otherwise,) for their candidate for County Treasurer. They are taking no interest whatever in the balance of the county ticket, but hope to save Doc White, but we assure them they will not accomplish even this.

We appeal to the Republican voters to do no trading. It is not necessary, for victory is assured to every candidate on our ticket, and when ths election is over there will be more surprised democrats in Centre County than were ever known, for we hardly suppose Chairman Taylor is giving information in advance.

The Watchman makes much ado over Harry Jackson's politeness and courtesy but does it not occur to our esteemed contemporary that there are others just as polite and capable of discharging the duties of the office as Mr. Jackson. For instance, D. Wagner Geiss would have made just as polite and obliging an official but the Democratic ringleaders had no use for Wagner and he had to go way back and sit down in order that a chronic office holder should have the nomination. Fortunately the people will have a say in this matter at the polls on November 7th.

The Democratic spellbinders in their tour throughout the state are giving great entertainments of "chin music" but do not convince nor convert Republicans to the idea of electing a Free Silver-Prohibition-Democrat as State Treasurer of Pennsylvania.

Our bachelor friend, Harry Jackson is a nice young man, but his friends would do him a favor by preventing him from becoming chronic as an office holder. Seventeen years in public office is enough for one man.

Vote for Earle C. Tuten for Register.

HON. J. LEE PLUMMER
A POPULAR CANDIDATE

Interesting Career of the Republican Nominee For State Treasurer, Who Will Be Elected By An Overwhelming Majority.

J. LEE PLUMMER,
Republican Nominee for State Treasurer.

From reports received from every county in the state, Colonel Wesley R. Andrews, chairman of the Republican state committee, confidently predicts the election of J. Lee Plummer, Republican nominee for state treasurer, by over 100,000 majority, and he says he would not be surprised to see the figures reach nearer 200,000.

Mr. Plummer has made a splendid candidate, and it is predicted by many that he will lead his ticket when the returns shall be finally computed.

Plummer's Interesting Career.

Mr. Plummer was born at Upper Tyrone Forge, Snyder township, Blair county, Pennsylvania, September 20, 1859. His grandfather and father were forgemen and worked in the forge at that place. His father, James S. Plummer, was a member of the Tyrone Artillery Company of the state militia, and at the fall encampment, held at Hollidaysburg, in September, 1858, had the major portion of both hands blown off by the premature discharge of his cannon.

A few years later he was appointed postmaster of Tyrone, and moved there with his family. Lee attended the public school and assisted in the support of the family by selling newspapers morning and evening, and there are some men and women living in Tyrone—not so old, either—who remember very distinctly a bright-eyed urchin whom they were in the habit of addressing as "Lee," and who often persuaded them to buy a morning newspaper in spite of themselves. That was the modest beginning of his efforts after independence. His former patrons have always remained his friends. Graduating from the Tyrone public schools at the age of 17, in the Centennial year, young Plummer secured a clerkship at the Tyrone scales of the Pennsylvania Railroad company, and later was transferred to the transportation department and made passenger brakeman on the Tyrone division.

In 1881 he removed with his parents to Hollidaysburg, the county seat of Blair county, and of that town he has ever since been a resident.

Young Plummer began to take an active interest in politics while yet a mere boy. He is a Republican, both by inheritance and conviction, and his intense interest attracted the attention of the party workers, with whom he was glad to associate from early youth, and he was actually elected to membership on the county committee before he attained his majority.

Work As a County Chairman.

He was secretary and chairman a number of times. He was county chairman in 1887, when an onslaught was made on Captain William B. Hart, Republican candidate for state treasurer. At that time the Republican majority in Blair county was not large, the county as often being carried by the Democrats as by the Republicans, and many persons feared the county would cast a majority against Captain Hart. As a matter of fact, he had a majority of over 1300. This brilliant campaign made Mr. Plummer county chairman in 1888, and that year the county gave Benjamin Harrison, for president, a majority of over 2300, the largest ever given any candidate up to that time.

In 1889 the Republicans of Blair county were looking for a good man to fill the office of register and recorder. They nominated Mr. Plummer, and the people endorsed the nomination by electing him and re-electing him three years later. He instituted many radical reforms in the office, performing its duties in the same energetic and original fashion that had marked his previous life. While serving the people as register and recorder he utilized his spare time in the study of the law, so that a few months after his retirement from office he was admitted to the bar, of which he is now an honored and useful member.

Clear-Headed Legislator.

In 1902 Mr. Plummer was chosen as one of the representatives from Blair county in the legislature, being re-elected in 1904. At the opening of the session of 1903 he was appointed chairman of the elections committee of the house, and was a member of several other important committees. He displayed qualities which commended him to the attention of the leaders of the party and naturally marked him for higher honors. He was prompt in his discharge of all his legislative duties. He was a total abstainer from intoxicants and always had a clear head.

It was not surprising, therefore, to his friends to learn that he had been appointed chairman of the committee on appropriations for the session of 1905. The work of the committee, under his direction from start to finish, is the best possible testimony to his sincere purpose to serve the people of the state and bring about the best possible results for suffering humanity, as well as the public at large. More than 500 bills were passed upon by the appropriations committee of the house, upon a large majority of which hearings were granted by the committee, at all of which the chairman presided. These hearings were free to the public, and all applicants were given courteous treatment.

The appropriations were made afterwards upon merit. For one thing, the chairman insisted that each institution asking for state aid should submit a certified statement of the number of free patients provided for and treated during the preceding three years, it being his belief that the money so appropriated should be used for the relief of the sufferings of the state's poor. This was so obviously fair and equitable that the auditor general has adopted it for the future guidance of his department.

Backed Even By Democrats.

One of the most important duties devolving upon the chairman of the house appropriations committee is the preparation of the general appropriation bill, which is the "budget" for running the state government for the ensuing two years. When the bill left Chairman Plummer's hands it carried appropriations amounting to $16,500,000. It passed the house by a unanimous vote, not only all of the Republican members voting for it, but Mr. [illegible], the Democratic leader, and all of his party associates giving it the compliment of their support.

The bill was transmitted to the senate, and was amended there, and upon its return to the house for concurrence it was passed finally without a conference.

In this connection Speaker Walton declared it was the first time within his knowledge—certainly the first time for many years—that such a splendid compliment had been paid by the house to the ability and impartiality of the chairman of the appropriations committee.

Free Liquor Barred.

In nothing was the courage and common sense of Chairman Plummer more conspicuously illustrated than in his fearless action in barring all liquors from the committee rooms and from the cars on which the committee made its trips to various institutions coming under its supervision, and seeking the financial assistance of the state. With the private rights or habits of the committeemen there was no thought of interference, but the state purchased no liquor for the appropriations committee last session.

Something tangible was likewise done for the insane.

In connection with Speaker Walton, Mr. Plummer conceived the idea of making appropriations for certain insane hospitals for the purpose of relieving the overcrowded condition of the patients confined therein. Every one of the state institutions of this character was visited, the situation taken in and special appropriations made for Harrisburg, Danville, and Norristown. Harrisburg was given $35,000 for the temporary ward buildings; Danville, $85,000 for five temporary ward buildings, and Norristown, $70,000 for four temporary ward buildings. These temporary buildings are to be of the most comfortable condition that it is possible to make them. They will be one story in height, wide and roomy, with a window at every cot, with amusement room connected, and with the latest modern sanitary arrangements.

Cared For Insane Poor.

The appropriations for temporary buildings are in addition to the appropriations made to the insane hospitals for permanent improvements looking to the more comfortable treatment of the inmates. For instance, the committee discovered that at Danville Insane Hospital the patients were sleeping on old wooden beds that had been in use for years. This hospital was given $10,000 for the purpose of replacing these old wooden beds with new iron beds, with springs and mattresses.

The insane hospital at Warren was given the sum of $6000 for the same purpose. All the other insane hospitals are furnished with the iron beds, etc.

In addition to the foregoing appropriations to the existing insane hospitals there was an appropriation of $150,000 for a new hospital for the criminal insane; $800,000 for the institution for epileptics located at Spring City, and $900,000 for the new insane hospital at Allentown.

In all this new benevolent work the chairman of the committee was the central figure. He believed and declared that the helpless wards of the state are entitled to proper care and humane treatment, and he supported his belief by vigorous action.

Looked After Consumptives.

During the last session of the legislature Mr. Plummer prepared and introduced two bills appropriating $400,000 for the establishment of two state camps for the benefit of consumptives. He had studied the problem of the great white plague for years, and was convinced that the out-door life would save the lives of hundreds of the citizens of the commonwealth if suitable camps were provided for their treatment.

The rich may provide the comforts and environment needed to check the disease in its incipiency, but those in moderate circumstances, and the poor, are at its mercy unless the state comes to their rescue. The bills were passed by the legislature, but were vetoed by the governor for reasons which commended themselves to his judgment, and the consumptive who is without personal means must wait awhile.

But Mr. Plummer is not discouraged. He is persuaded that the fight against consumption should be taken up by the state as a state institution, and that the proposed camps are needed, not only for the rescue of many already within the clutches of the dread disease, but also for the protection of the general public. And he means to push the fight and enlist the sympathy and support of others until the battle has been won.

An Exemplary Citizen.

In his private life Mr. Plummer is an exemplary citizen; gentle and kindly in manner, and modest in his deportment. In his young manhood he became an active member of the Methodist Episcopal church. He is at present secretary and treasurer of the board of trustees of the Hollidaysburg church of that denomination, and has been for the last 10 years.

On April 18, 1882, Mr. Plummer married Mary A. Silknitter, daughter of Wesley Silknitter, a farmer, of Huntingdon county. Their home life is ideal. They have been blessed with two children, a son and a daughter. The latter has just graduated from the Hollidaysburg high school, and the former a bright, active boy, is in his junior year in the same school.

Record in character, fixed in principle, a Republican from conviction, a citizen without guile and without reproach, the Republican nominee for state treasurer is one of the state's most useful sons. He well deserves the honor conferred upon him by the Republican state convention, and will make a careful and vigilant guardian of the state's funds.

Although Cyrus T. Hall is not personally known in all sections of our county we can assure the Republicans that he is in every way qualified to discharge the duties of Recorder, and is a moral upright man, agreeable and accommodating. We have this from both Democrats and Republicans living in Philipsburg, who know him intimately and are working to secure his election.

Vote for S. M. Huff for Coroner.

Harrison Kline made a first class County Treasurer and his son, Henry Kline will make a first class sheriff. "Like father, like son." He can be relied upon to be at his post of duty at all times.

A Great Meeting in Progress.

The marked and unusual spirit of unity between the several churches of Philipsburg, coupled with the God given powers of Chaplain E. W. White D. D., of Michigan, are factors which the Holy Spirit is using to draw large congregations to the evening services at the M. E. church in that place. No other audience room in the town would begin to hold the crowds that are coming night after night to listen to the strong, clear, forceful preaching of Chaplain White, a man who seems to be filled with true Holy Ghost power.

Even before the arrival of the evangelist, the people were manifesting their interest, in so largely attending the union prayer meeting Wednesday evening.

Sunday night the large audience was packed, and the searching sermon on the judgment set about 800 people to thinking along new lines.

All indications are that a great work is beginning here that will result in great good to a vast number of individuals.—Philipsburg Journal.

Fall Arbor Day.

Friday, October 20, is the day set apart by the State Department of Public Instruction as arbor day, and the schools of the state are urged to observe the day by the planting of trees and by other exercises designed to stimulate an interest in the science and art of forestry. Since the establishment of arbor day more than thirty years ago millions of trees have been planted within the borders of our land, and thousands of acres have been set apart for the purpose of forestry. The observance of arbor day has extended not merely to every state of the union but to France, Japan and other countries beyond the sea.

Hon. John Tighe, No. 98 Remsen St., Cohoes, N. Y., Member of Assembly from the Fourth district, Albany county, N. Y., writes as follows:

"Peruna has my hearty indorsement as a restorative tonic of superior merit. At times when I have been completely broken down from excess of work, so that my faculties seemed actually at a standstill, Peruna has acted as a healing restorer, starting the machinery of mind and body afresh with new life and energy.

"I recommend it to a man tired in mind and body as a tonic superior to anything I know of and well worthy serious consideration."—J. Tighe.

Excess of work so common in our country causes impaired nerves, leading to catarrh and catarrhal nervousness—a disease that is responsible for half of all nervous troubles.

Deceased was born at Zion, Centre county, where he remained until married. He married Ada Yearick of Jacksonville, Pa., and afterwards went west, where he had lived since, part of the time in Iowa and the rest in Nebraska. He taught school for nearly 30 years. Beside his wife and four children he leaves the following brothers and sisters to mourn his loss: J. D., of Canada; Z. D., of Chadron, Neb.; Mrs. E. C. Strohm of Zion, P. F., and Mrs. H. M. Wetzel of Lock Haven.

Unique Business.

Ex-Councilman William Pickering, of Shamokin, conducts a unique business and it pays him and those who do business with the gentleman.

Mr. Pickering deals in milch cows and his patrons instead of purchasing animals, go to Mr. Pickering and he furnishes them with a bovine for the very small sum of $1.00

The animal is given under the form of a lease and the lessor must feed and house the milk giver properly while she is in his or her possession. All milk is to become his or hers during the time the animal is in his or her barn. However, there is a provision, and that is all calves must be turned over to Mr. Pickering, also the cow when the parties become tired of her. The cows are all insured and the cow broker receives big interest on his investment. The scheme is a good one and works to advantage to both parties.

Gasolene Engines

Among the best exhibits at the recent County Fair was the gasolene engines which the American Harvester Company had on exhibition. James Kreps, of Boggs township is the owner of one of these engines, the largest we ever saw. He has been visiting the different fairs this year with this engine and it has drawn forth the admiration of all who saw it. Mr. Kreps expects to use this engine next year to run threshing machines and other agricultural machinery. It is much cheaper to operate than other threshing engines and does the work just as well.

Besides the Centre county Fair, Mr. Kreps visited Williams Grove, Bloomsburg and other agricultural exhibitions.

All Steel Cars

President Cassatt is determined that the Pennsylvania railroad shall be the first to introduce as the standard equipment an all-steel fire-proof passenger car. Instructions have been given to construct in the Altoona shops such a car as soon as possible.

This followed a conference between President Cassatt, Theodore N. Ely, chief of motive power; W. W. Atterbury, general manager; A. W. Gibbs, general superintendent of motive power, and George Gibbs, chief engineer of electric traction of the New York tunnel terminal system.

This experimental car will have the same general appearance as the standard wide-vestibuled passenger car now used by the Pennsylvania. It is estimated that the car, built in numbers, will cost about $7,500.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co. Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. "The blood of the life." Science has never gone beyound that simple statement of scripture. But it has illuminated that statement and given it a meaning ever broadening with the increasing breadth of knowledge. When the blood is "bad" or impure it is not alone the body which suffers through disease. The brain is also clouded, the mind and judgment are affected, and many an evil deed or impure thought may be directly traced to the impurity of the blood. No one can be well balanced in mind and body whose blood is impure. No one can have a wholesome and pure life unless the blood is pure. Foul blood can be made pure by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. When the blood is pure, body and brain are alike healthy and life becomes a daily happiness. COUNTRY THREATAENED WITH TIMBER FAMINE

Millions of Acres Might Produce Forests in the United States.

The county is threatened with a timber famine, and it is predicted that the next generation will find the supply of hard woods exhausted in nearly all the States. The American farmer is much of a vandal and during the last century there was wantonly destroyed enough walnut, oak and ash to supply the necessities of our people for hard woods for decades at the present rate of consumption. But that is past mending, and mills do not grind with the water that went by yesterday.

There is something of a land famine, also, but that is imaginary rather than real though thousands of Americans have left their homes and located in the Dominion of Canada, where lands are fertile, abundant and cheap. If there is a land famine in the States it is due to the improvidence of our fathers and their vandal methods of "skimming" the soil. There are millions and millions of acres thus exhausted and turned out as waste and worthless oil fields. These could be reclaimed and restored to their former fertility if we could induce the American farmer to give a little thought and a little time to posterity.

Timber culture is unknown with us, or so little practiced that for practical purposes it does not exist though we have millions and millions of acres of waste, exhausted and abandoned fields on which valuable timber could be grown, but the man who plants a timber tree works for posterity, and our folks are so hot-foot after the dollar they have no time for tree-planting. And yet timber culture can be made profitable to the planter. An exhausted field devoted to black walnut or black locust is soon covered with grass and affords an admirable pasture for sheep. In a few years the fertility of the soil is restored, and the sheep husbandman, if he be prudent and frugal, reaps a profit every year. But we have few sheep husbandmen, comparatively, and timber culture is not an industry.

In some of the States of continental Europe, says the Washington Post, no man can fell a tree on his land without government permit, which is not granted until he has planted another tree to replace the one he shall cut. In France timber is a regular crop that is cut when it is "ripe" and planted in due season. It was such vandalism as we practice in the destruction of timber that made so many deserts in Asia. Trees are the lungs of the earth, and in some parts of the United States the earth has tuberculosis, due to ignorance and unthrift.

It is a fact that almost everyone thinks that they would like some other job than their own. An exchange puts it as follows;

Speaking of an endless chain an exchange says: "Every farmer boy wants to be a school teacher; every school teacher wants to be an editor; every editor would like to be a banker; every banker would like to be a trust magnate, and every trust magnate hopes some day to own a farm and have chickens and cows and pigs and horses to look after. Clerk-Carrier Examination for Bellefonte Pa.

The United States Civil Service Commission announces that on Oct. 28, 1905, and at Bellefonte an examination will be held for the positions of clerk and carrier in the Post Office Service.

This examination offers an opportunity to bright, energetic young persons to enter an interesting field of Government employment where the salaries compare most favorably with those paid in private employment.

The salary of letter carrier in all cities which contain a population of 75,000 or more is arranged in three classes: First class, $1,000 per annum; second class, $800 per annum; and third class, $600 per annum. In cities containing less than 75,000 population there are two classes: Second class, $850 per annum, and third class, $600 per annum. Appointments of letters carriers are made to the class having the minimum rate of pay and promotions from the lower grades are made to the next higher grade at the expiration of one year's service, on certificate of the postmaster to the efficiency and faithfulness of the employee during the preceding year. A substitute letter carrier receives a compensation of $1 per annum and the pro rata compensation of the carrier whose route he may be required to serve. A vacancy in the regular force of carriers must be filled by the promotion of the senior substitute. A substitute clerk is paid a rate of compensation not exceeding the compensation of the absent clerk or employee whose place he takes. The salaries of clerks at the post offices vary according to the class of work to be performed and the size of the office, but range from $400 to $1,000 in the smaller offices to as high as $1,700 per annum in the larger offices. All original appointments of clerks are made at the minimum salaries.

Spelling, Arithmetic, Letter-writing, Penmanship, Copying from plain copy, United States geography, Reading addresses.

Age limit, all positions, 18 to 45 years.

All applicants, male and female, must be at least 5 feet 4 inches in height in bare feet, and weigh not less than 125 pounds.

All persons who have been examined for the position of clerk or carrier within the past year and failed to pass may be reexamined upon filing new applications in due time.

This examination is open to all citizens of the United States who comply with the requirements.

From the eligibles resulting from this examination it is expected that certifications will be made to existing and future vacancies.

For application blank, full instructions, specimen examination questions, and information relative to the duties and salaries of the different positions, and the location of the examination room, application should be made to the secretary of the board of examiners at the post-office.

"At Sunrise."

"At Sunrise" the latest effort of the rising young actor, author, Dick Huffman has so far proven as unqualified success, and is spoken of by the press of near by cities with the highest praise The play is a high class melodrama of the modern type, devoid of the "claptrap" usual to such attractions. The story is one of the love and devotion of an U. S. Army scout for the girl he loves, and is a blending of pathos and comedy with just the right touch of sensationalism. A complete scenic investure carried and bright catchy specialties. At the Opera House Friday evening Oct. 20.

Dead Dog Costs Blair County $150.

Joseph Kruise, of Altoona, prosecuted Jesse Ayers in the Blair County Court last week, for the alleged larceny of a dog. After the testimony of twenty witnesses was heard it developed that the dog was dead. Judge Martin Bell directed the jury to acquit Ayers. The dead dog cost Blair county $150 in court expenses. "If the grand jury puts the costs on some of these alderman they will get no relief from this court," was the rebuke administered by Judge Bell to alderman alleged to have induced litigants to make additional information in order to fatten their fees.

Over-Work Weakens Your Kidneys.

Unhealthy Kidneys Make Impure Blood.

All the blood in your body passes through your kidneys once every three minutes.

The kidneys are your blood purifiers, they filter out the waste or impurities in the blood.

If they are sick or out of order, they fail to do their work.

Pains, aches and rheumatism come from excess of uric acid in the blood, due to neglected kidney trouble.

Kidney trouble causes quick or unsteady heart beats, and makes one feel as though they had heart trouble, because the heart is over-working in pumping thick, kidney-poisoned blood through veins and arteries.

It used to be considered that only urinary troubles were to be traced to the kidneys, but now modern science proves that nearly all constitutional diseases have their beginning in kidney trouble.

If you are sick you can make no mistake by first doctoring your kidneys. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases and is sold on its merits by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also pamphlet telling you how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. Mention this paper when writing Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y.

Money, Money, Money.

Have you ever stopped to think what subject furnishes the most fruitful topic of conversation these days? It is money.

In libraries, in street cars, on railroads, on the streets everywhere the sound of "dollars" is heard.

"What is it worth?" How much did it cost?" "How much did you get for it?" "What kind of an investment would that be?" "How are the stocks today?" "Who won in the real estate deal?"

Always money, money, money! Do you announce the death of a friend, the query, "How much money did he leave?" is the first thing to greet your ears. Sorrow for the dead, sympathy for the living are both secondary to the importance of whether he died rich.

Do you speak of a marriage, the first question is, "Did she do well?"

Always money, money, money!

Is a child born into the world, "Was is born with a silver or gold spoon in its mouth?" is the first thing asked. And according to the answer, predictions for its future are either rosy or gray.

Always money, money, money!

Men have died for it, men have lied for it, become criminals for it—everything but remained honest for it.

FIRST IN THE FIED

Just commenced in the New York Family Story paper

A Modern Bluebeard

or the adventures of a Female Sherlock Holmes a realistic romance founded on fact by Fanny May. You who have been reading the daily papers can easily imagine how the thought came to the author's mind to write this story. Though purely a romance, many of its most sensational and dramatic scenes are based on fact. It is a startling expose of a wicked man's wiles. This realistic romance begins in No. 1644 of THE NEW YORK FAMILY STORY PAPER

It's Dangerous To Doubt.

You have no right to doubt a thing that has been tested and found to rest on fact. Vin-te-na has cured so many people in so many parts of the country that it is really unjust to predict a failure in any case that has gone beyond the power of medicine.

Vin-te-na purifies the blood and makes the nerves strong and steady. It not only cures disease but safeguards the system against every form of germ disease. Most all diseases are rooted in the blood. Vin-te-na cures the very cause of all blood disorders by destroying the impurities in the blood and giving it purity and warmth. Get it and be strong.

TESTS PATIENCE.

Nothing spoils a good disposition.

Nothing taxes a man's patience

Like any itchiness of the skin.

Itching piles almost drive you crazy.

All day it makes you miserable

All night it keeps you awake.

Itch! Itch! Itch! with no relief.

Just the same with eczema.

Can hardly keep from scratching it.

You would do so but you know it makes it worse.

Such miseries are daily decreasing.

People are learning they can be cured.

Learning the merit of Doan's Ointment.

Plenty of proof that Doan's Ointment will cure Piles, Eczema or any Itching of the skin.

Read the testimony of a Bellefonte citizen.

A hotel man of Bellefoute, says: "I have used Doan's Ointment and know it to be all that it is claimed to be. I tried it for itching hemorrhoids and other skin eruptions and found it to be not only one of the best, but in fact the only remedy that ever gave me any relief. I was in constant torment for years with hemorrhoids and anyone who has suffered from this trouble will know how welcome was the relief I found in Doan's Ointment. It cured me in about twenty-four hours. I have not only used it myself but have recommended it in numerous cases and always with the same good results. I would not allow my name to be used as a reference if I did not know it to be just as represented. I got the Ointment at F. Potts Green's drug store."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cts. cents. Foster—Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y. sole agents for the United States.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science is able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

In the New York Family Story Paper Charlotte May Kingsley's great romance An American Girl; or Hearts and Coronets. The subject deals with the one brought into prominence only lately by Andrew Carnegie's remark that he would not care to have a worthless British Duke marry into his family. Mrs. Kingsley depicts the American Girl true to life with all of a real American girl's abhorrence of being bartered for a title. This splendid serial begins in No. 1654 of The New York Family Story Paper, To enable all to read this fascinating romance we will send you a copy of the paper, containing the opening instalment, free of all charge. A LAXATIVE Cough Syrup

THE NEW IDEA THE ORIGINAL

The Red Clover Blossom and the Honey Bee on Every Bottle.

"A Cold or a Cough nearly always produces constipation—the water all runs to the eyes, nose and throat instead of passing out of the system through the liver and kidneys. For the want of moisture the bowels become dry and hard."

KENNEDY'S LAXATIVE HONEY AND TAR

Cures Coughs by cleansing and strengthening the mucous membranes of the throat, chest, lungs and bronchial tubes.

For Croup, Whooping Cough, La Grippe, Influenza, Bronchitis, and all Coughs, Colds, Lung and Bronchial affections no remedy is equal to Kennedy's Laxative Honey and Tar. Children like it.

FEROCIOUS ELK DEHORNED.

Would Kill Anything That Came in His Reach.

Job, the younger of two male elks which are the pride of Alexander Billmeyer at the game preserve near Washingtonville, has been on the rampage since last Friday and became so ferocious that it was necessary to dehorn him, to prevent his killing of the herd. Like the average male elk he was tame during but when the fall days came he suddenly went wild. The other male elk, Jumbo by name, is of such a ferocious disposition that it is necessary to keep him penned up all the time.

Last fall he killed two females of the herd and in order to protect the others Mr. Billmeyer decided upon the innovation of dehorning the ferocious animal, which was very successfully accomplished Accordingly last spring Job instead of having four foot antlers to get rid of was obliged to shed only the short stubs that had been left after dehorning. Inside of thirteen weeks, however, the elk grew another fine set of antlers, He is an enormous animal and with full grown horns of four feet or more he presented a beautiful picture. He was as kind as could be during the summer, but Mr. Billmeyer knew what to expect as fall approached and had made up his mind that the first sign of ill temper he would have the elk dehorned as last year.

Following all precedent it was too early to look for any demonstration for a month yet but the elk showed that he was bound by no rule and last Saturday his nature changed from a mild and playful animal to that of a ferocious beast, pawing the earth and ramming his long antlers right and left in a frenzied effort to destroy and living thing that ventured in his reach. Before it could be prevented the elk had cornered up one of the cows of the herd and was attempting to kill her. Before the elk could be beaten off the female was badly injured, her leg being broken near the shoulder. It is not likely that her life can be saved.

It was decided to dehorn the elk at once, but the job was rather more than was figured upon The big animal was in a terrific mood and it took several men to handle him The elk was first driven into a narrow pen, after which ropes were thrown over his horns by which means he was drawn to the fence and held in such position that a rope could be fastened around his neck in this way he was choked into submission after which the operation of dehorning took place. An effort was made to remove the antlers intact but this failed, and the horns had to be taken off in several sections.

—Prof. Surface of State College will prove that the cabbage worm is not poisonous. Should anyone be possessed of the belief that the cabbage worm is poisonous if taken into the human stomach all that is necessary is to take such a worm to State Zoologist Surface. He is ready to eat the worm to disprove the belief. It is not likely that such an insect is an especially appetizing tidbit and Professor Surface's mastication of it should this be necessary, will be only to show that the belief that it is poisonous to the human system, which is widely entertained, is fallacious.

—When the bicycle came into general use there arose a cry that "the horse will be of little use to the business man." The bicycle has come and is now a "has been," while the horse, if anything, became more popular. Now the automobile is the popular vehicle, and again the horse is to "end his day of usefulness." He told me to take the saw, and go out and saw the tongue of that wagon in half. —A very simple cure for a felon is given in the "Medical Visitor" by Dr. Whitman. Make a hole large enough to admit the thumb or finger, whichever it may be, and force it into the egg as far as possible without rupturing the shell. Wipe off the egg which runs out and bind a handkerchief or soft cloth around the finger or thumb, leaving the egg on over night.
